

ABOUT THIS — AND — ABOUT THAT

By OLIVER GEDEIST

Hurt Russian Ears

The ringing applause given the President's address to Congress last Thursday hurt Russian ears. That is, the ears of Russian officials. Most likely few other Russians heard the address, or could understand it. Unless the address was snort-waved later, the people of that country will never know the contents of the address, nor the warm sympathy expressed in the applause.

Only Hardness

The Russian government knows only hardness. Fortunately, the President used hard words. That way, Soviet officials could feel the tinge of democracy at work. Because of past Russian history, Russian people are hard; they lived in hardness under the czars, they have lived in hardness under the hypocritical regime that has controlled the country since the revolution. He who lives in hell can know nothing of heaven.

Cheap Skates

Of course we have some cheap skates in our law-making body in Washington. Taylor of Idaho, with his mind seemingly impregnated with Wallace Sovietism, is one of them. There are a few others—party hacks who would substitute partisan advantage for the safety of the country. But they are few. Honor the Republican senators who administered a vocal thrashing to the benighted Idahoan who protested the speech on the ground that Russian sins should not be told about.

What's to Come?

No sensible man would undertake to draw a blueprint now. But one thing we can appreciate: Russia must withdraw, at least partially, or war will follow. How soon no one can tell. That depends upon how ready Soviet officials think they are. One thing is certain: if Congress backs up the President, as it should, the Stalin gang will be hesitant, at least, in provoking war. But they are dumb, as demonstrated by their communistic and destructive adherences. And dumb people who think they are smart are dangerous people.

We Are In Peril

We must be prepared. Cost? Of course there's cost. There will always be cost. But character hesitates not at all at cost as between liberty and the death of liberty. And remember this: we live in a world no different than the world of 5,000 B. C. to 700 A. D. Nations grew to greatness and disappeared. That's in the history books. Good idea to get them out and read them. A world in chaos will not let us alone. And we'd better not permit the chaos to grow bigger. If we do, it will swallow us up.

No "Easter" There

There's no "Easter" in the Kremlin. There's no gentleness of soul, no benevolent spirit. No, but there is the spirit of the jungle—a medieval beast come to life. Its tasks are great. Its hunger unlimited. In the Kremlin there is found the hot fires of hatred—hatred for the choice titbits of beauty that have grown up in recent centuries through the hard ground of turmoil. Vexing, its a time, while praying, to "keep the powder dry"—and the war machine well oiled. We may well revel in the beauty of our Easter, but keep one ear and one eye cocked for dangers ahead.

Apostle of the Beast

Stalin's apologist in the United States made two radio speeches last week. Probably "speech" is the wrong word. "Spewing" probably is a better word. There is a large vacancy when the apostle of the Beast of Europe emits his empty phrases.

Easter

In The Churches

The Semmler Newspapers this week present Easter programs in the churches throughout Semmler Newspaperland as supplied by pastors or other church authorities. Omission of any church is due to failure to receive copy.

It has been 1,623 years since it was decreed that Easter should be officially (theologically) observed on the first Sunday following Paschal Full Moon which happens upon or next after March 21. The principal reason for thus setting the period within a range of 35 days, between March 22 and April 25, was that Pilgrims needed moon light to make their trips for the yearly Easter festivities.

Lent originally was a period of only 40 hours, later becoming 30 days of fasting, omitting all the Sundays and all the Saturdays except one. Pope Gregory added Ash Wednesday to the fast, together with the remainder of the week. The idea of Ash Wednesday was derived from a Jewish custom, and they picked up the idea from earlier religions.

REPUBLICAN WOMEN'S CLUB PLANS TO BE AT PARTY RALLY APRIL 13

The Will County Republican Women's club will attend the public rally being held by the Will county central committee instead of holding its customary annual meeting. Mrs. Dorothy Dibell June, president of the club, announced today.

The Republican rally is to be held April 3 at 8 p. m. in the American Legion hall, corner of Webster and Ottawa streets, Joliet. Senator C. Wayland Brooks will be the principle speaker, and all the state and county candidates for the primary on the Republican ticket have been invited to attend.

In the past it has been the custom of the Women's club to hold a meeting at which the candidates were introduced, but this year it was decided they would join forces with the central committee in the introduction of the candidates, Mrs. June said.

With the primary election to be held Tuesday, April 13, members of the Will County Republican Women's club are showing interest in the candidates on the Republican ballot. In every campaign the increased activity of women is more and more apparent, she commented.

Mrs. June concluded by saying, "It is the hope and expectation of the board of the Republican Women's club that each member will not only be present at this rally herself, but will also consider it her privilege and duty as a voter to bring her friends and neighbors."

AT EASTER

By ELIZABETH B. BUSCH

At Easter,
Resurrection time, we see
A world reborn
With promise of returning life

In grass and flower and tree.

At Easter,
Then we think of how
Our Lord arose

Triumphant over death,
Before whom every head should bow

At Easter

May we know rebirth

Of hope and faith and love,

And pray and work for Brotherhood and peace around the earth.

EGG HUNT AT MARLEY EASTER MORN

An Easter egg hunt is scheduled for the Marley church grounds Easter morning at 8 o'clock, sponsored by the Marley Sub-Debs. The egg hunt is for the children of the community, it was stated, and the only requirement set up is that each child will supply a basket for eggs found in the hunt.

SUPPER ENDS MARLEY FARM LIFE PROGRAM

Marley Farm Life program will complete its activities for the season at a potluck supper and meeting in the church Wednesday evening, April 7. A speaker, to be announced later, will be invited to speak to the group. Time: 7:30.

MRS. KOVAR ON AIR TRIP TO PRAGUE

Mrs. Frank Kovar, Sr., of Frankfort is on her way to Czechoslovakia, where she expects to arrive Sunday morning. She left Chicago this morning by United Airlines for New York. Then, tomorrow morning, she will go abroad a transatlantic plane for the newest center of European political disturbance.

The reason for the trip is Mrs. Kovar's mother, whom she has not seen in 27 years—since 1921. Her mother lives in Prague. She is 69 years' old. Mrs. Kovar expects to return to her family in Frankfort in July.

AAA SIGNING DEADLINE APPROACHES

Will county farmers interested in carrying out soil conservation work under the ACP program should be certain that a worksheet has been signed for their farm; and filed in the county office, according to Byron Gaskill, chairman of the local AAA committee.

"In the past," he said, "some farmers failed to complete the required forms by the established deadline date and thereby lost out on the benefits of the program. It is our desire to hold these cases to a minimum this year, so we ask that everyone bear in mind that the sign-up campaign will end in a couple of weeks. Farmers not yet signed up, but interested in the program, should call at the county office immediately."

The Reverend Peter Marshall, the Scottish-born Chaplain of the Senate, continues to delight Washington with his pungent prayers, says Farm Journal.

Recently Senators heard him plead: "Help us, O Lord, when we want to do the right thing, but know not what it is. But help us most when we know perfectly well what we ought to do, and do not want to do it."

AIRMAN PROSPERI TAKES EDITOR ON WATER-FINDING EXPEDITION

This all started because Ed. Prospero, whose airport is located at 186th street and route 42A, Tinley Park, was one of a group of men in a get-together of Tinley business men Monday evening.

And the thing started because Airman Prospero had been surrounded by water—water everywhere, he said, and he asked what Tinley Business Men's association could do about helping along drainage proposals in Bremen and adjoining townships.

Well, it got talked about a bit, then Mr. Prospero invited any of the business men to go for a ride with him and see the little oceans where the winds roughed up substantial ripples.

Since the editor wanted to know where drainage was most needed, and because he wanted to "hitch" a ride, he accepted Airman Prospero's invitation. And away we went, Tuesday. And we found water—receding under the bright rays of the sun, but many of the baby oceans will be around for quite a spell.

Probably the worst thing observed was erosion. Maybe it can't be helped. But it ought to be. The best of the surface washed away over large areas; great gaping spaces washed in the earth's face. It's going to cost many farmers a lot of money this year.

We, all of us, knew and know that drainage is necessary over a large part of the community, but an inspection made from the air impresses one more forcibly of the tremendous losses sustained when good soil is washed away. Drainage cannot alone stop this loss, of course, but modern farming methods plus drainage could add much to the nation's resources.

And if the editor is as good at taking pictures from a plane as Airman Prospero is at piloting a plane, we'll have pictures for you next week.

TINLEY PARK IS STRUCK BY TORNADO

A barn on the property of Emil Bettenhausen on east Oak Forest avenue, Tinley Park, was moved a foot and a half off the foundation by a tornado which struck Tinley Park about 7 o'clock Friday morning, March 19.

The home of Emil T. Bettenhausen, at 17267 65th court, also was damaged. The south half of the roof was torn away and the chimney was blown into the back yard. Mrs. Bettenhausen reports that the living quarters in the south end of the house were demolished. The room was unoccupied when the storm hit and there were no personal injuries. The house next door, which is occupied by the Clarence Hogue family, also had part of the roof damaged and windows broken.

Mrs. Leonard Fulton reported that the barn on their property at 167th and Ridgeland is a complete wreck. The cattle and horses were unharmed.

The tornado caused the most damage on the Art Dini farm at 475th and Harlem. A lean-to-shelter for steers was demolished, but none of the animals were hurt. They escaped into the open before the shed collapsed. The shed and building where Mr. Dini kept all his farm implements and car was ruined and the hoghouses were blown apart. Some damage to the silo was reported.

Wind Turns Car

Mrs. Norman Hansen reports that while she was driving her car Friday morning her car was turned around and the sun visor was torn off and blown away during the tornado. She was unable to find the missing part.

Basements in many homes, covering a large area were flooded.

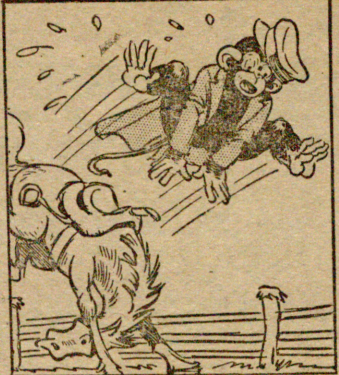

Drainage facilities were being installed to handle the volume of water, a while transportation was hampered, both on the highways and on railroads.

First-Aid Told For Hurt Animals

When livestock or pet animals are found with cuts or other kinds of open wounds, most owners make the mistake of giving either too much first-aid or none at all, says the American Veterinary Medical Association. Either way, the outcome may be serious.

"In treating open wounds, never put anything on the skin unless it is absolutely essential," the veterinary group advises. The best procedure is to cleanse the skin area around the cut with soap and warm water. Then, to remove any dirt that may be in the wound, gently irrigate it with clean, lukewarm water to which a pinch of salt has been added. Repeated use of water on cuts should be avoided, as it retards healing. Never pour iodine or any other kind of strong antiseptic solution into the cut. A good dusting powder is preferable to liquid antiseptics. If bandaging is necessary, only dry dressings should be used.

The AVMA added the warning that deadly infections, including tetanus (lockjaw), may develop as the result of neglected cuts and scratches and that the first-aid procedure should be followed up with professional veterinary treatment if the wound is deep or extensive, or if a seemingly minor cut fails to heal promptly.

SAY DANGER IN FREE USE OF PENICILLIN

Many livestock owners have begun to think that all they have to do when an animal gets sick is to give it a shot of penicillin—and wait for a miraculous recovery. This is far from the truth, says Dr. J. G. Hardenbergh, executive secretary of the American Veterinary Medical Association.

Animals repeatedly treated with this drug are likely to harbor infections which develop "penicillin resistance." The result is that use of the drug to combat infection at a later date may give no benefit at all, Dr. Hardenbergh says, adding that the same principle applies to the use of sulfa drugs.

Penicillin is a highly valuable drug that is saving thousands of human and animal lives when skillfully used against certain specific infections. "But it is definitely not a cure-all, and its random use as a home remedy for any and every kind of livestock infection is a dangerous trend," he declares.

Dr. Hardenbergh reports that veterinarians are encountering a considerable number of cases in which penicillin fails to accomplish desired results. Careful inquiry into some of these cases has disclosed that in many instances owners have attempted preliminary penicillin treatment. Due to inadequate these preliminary treatments have served only to create penicillin resistance, dosage or improper administration, thereby making it impossible for the drug to be effective.

'STIFF LAMB' LOSS STOPPED BY VITAMIN

Sheep growers who lost lambs last spring or this winter because of "stiff lamb" disease can take an important step now to keep this trouble from appearing again in their flocks.

The nutrition committee of the American Veterinary Medical association advises owners to make an immediate check-up on the rations being fed to ewes, to ascertain whether enough vitamin E is included. If the amount is inadequate, an attempt should be made to correct the deficiency by adding a good quality of legume hay, bran or a vitamin E supplement to the ration.

"Stiff lamb" disease may develop in animals up to 10 weeks of age whose mothers failed to receive enough vitamin E. Use of the vitamin to treat lambs in early stages of the disease has given excellent results under farm conditions, but is probably impractical under range conditions, the committee says.

Field tests show that a single application of BHC (benzene hexachloride) in pine oil will kill all ear ticks on an animal and that the ears will remain tick-free for over two weeks.

MEAT LOAVES TAKE TO 'NEW LOOK' IN 8 DIFFERENT WAYS

Are you game for a mix-and-match session? In other words, a lesson on the variety that can come to meat loaves with the flick of a wrist? Then listen to the words of Reba Staggs, famous home economist, who suggests eight ways that meat loaves can have the "new look."

1. Bake the loaf in various shapes: use the traditional loaf pan or mold a loaf shallow pan; bake in a square pan and cut in squares to serve; bake in a ring mold or angel cake pan, then unmold and fill the center with a cream-mixed mixture; bake in individual loaves—in muffin tins or shaped in small loaves to bake in a flat shallow pan.

2. Make an upside-down meat loaf: before placing the meat loaf mixture in the pan, make a design in the bottom of the pan with pickles, vegetables etc. When unmolded, the design is on top of the loaf. Use also olive slices, hard-cooked eggs, pickles, fruit, etc.

3. Bake a sauce-topped loaf: spread the top of the loaf with a flavorful sauce before baking so that a zesty topping results. Use catsup, mustard, horseradish, beaten jellies or preser-ef, or any combination that you prefer.

4. Bake a "stuffed" meat loaf: place half of the mixture in the pan, spread with stuffing, then add remaining meat. When sliced, the loaf reveals the stuffing in a most attractive way. Use bread stuffing, fruit stuffing, whole pickles, hard-cooked eggs, etc.

5. Vary the meats in the loaves: use ground beef, veal, lamb, fresh and smoked pork, and spicily-seasoned sausage or any combination of these.

6. Use herbs and seasonings with ingenuity to add true delight to meat loaves.

7. Serve the meat loaf with a zesty sauce: melted blue cheese, or American cheese, olive, tomato or brown sauces are only a few of the possibilities.

8. Make the meat loaf a meal-in-one by adding vegetables, either grated or whole. Carrots, peas, beans, beets, and corn are suggested.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Porcupines

- 1-2 cup bread crumbs
- 1 pound ground beef
- 1-4 cup chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 1-2 cup uncooked rice
- 1 10-ounce can tomato soup
- 2 cups boiling water

Combine meat, crumbs, onion, green pepper, salt and paprika. Mix well. Shape into 8 balls. Roll each ball in rice and press the rice into meat so that as it cooks it will cling to the meat. Place meat balls in pan; cover with tomato soup and boiling water. Cover and simmer about 45 minutes. 4 to 6 servings.

Woman's World Bedsread Should Harmonize With Room and Furnishings

By Ertta Haley

"I NEVER could figure out just what was wrong with my bedroom," said a woman to me the other day, "until I took it apart piece by piece. Then it suddenly dawned on me that the floral print bedsread was making the room look crowded and obscuring everything else."

When the bedsread in this particular room was changed to a conservative solid colored weave in a plain pattern minus flounces, the room took on an entirely new and really pleasing appearance.

Just as in all rooms in the home, decoration of the bedroom must be carefully planned, keeping in mind the size, exposures, light and other furnishings.

First of all, let's set down some basic principles. If the room is rather dark—those with north and east exposures particularly—you must use light colors in it. If the room is cold in addition to being dark, warm it with yellows, reds and orange. If the room is warm in feeling, you may want to cool it with tones of blue and green or maroon.

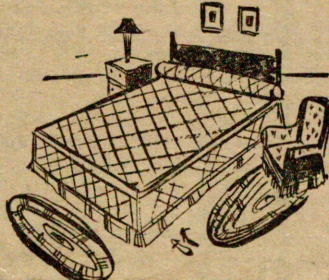

What should you do about size? If the room is small, avoid using heavy, ornate pieces of furniture. This applies particularly to the bed because it is the most important piece of furniture in the bedroom.

Use Simplicity When You Lack Space

Don't put a heavy oak bed with posters into a room that has small proportions even if the bed fits the space. It always will be an eyesore and will make you feel cramped.

Patterned wallpapers as well as patterned spreads and drapes "take a lot of space" and are best left to rooms which have ample size. The same is true of large plaids.

Plain weaves and colors that sort of melt into the background are your best cue for planning a bedsread for a modest room. If you must have some attractive detail even on a tailored spread, you may use box pleats around the bed, meeting a scallop—a single row—on the spread itself.

If the room has only moderate proportions and you like to use plaids, as in an early American type, use a plain bedsread and put plaid covering on the chairs, which are much smaller.

If you have twin beds in the room and they are set right next to each other, it's easy to solve the problem of a spread by making a single one large enough to cover both. This practice is being used extensively and is very smart.

When twin beds are used in the same room, but not next to each other, the spreads need not match, but may harmonize.

With the room itself.

Don't toss an assortment of pillows on the bed. When you do use them, have a definite plan in mind and dress them to harmonize pleasingly with the spread.

How to Cut, Make Different Spreads

You'll want to buy an upholstery fabric for the spread because they run 50 inches wide, and this means that the center piece will be whole. If narrower fabric is used, have one length for the center and the other length split and pieced to each side. You'll have to decorate where the piecing was done.

The easiest type of spread to make is an unshaped one which hangs free on all sides. In this case the only work involved is cutting and hemming. However, use this type only if the room is very casual. This is nice to use in youngsters' rooms.

If the room is semi-formal, a bedsread with a gathered skirt is effective. A good idea is to use a print or plaid for the length across the bed, and then plain material for the skirt. Or, just reverse and use

Rounded Shoulders

The new look from rounded shoulders to nipped-in waist and full skirt is seen in this birdseye pique. Designer Joset Walker molds the dove gray pique into lady-like silhouette, gives the jacket a gently rounded neckline and bells out the skirt.

plain for the top, print or plaid for the skirt.

In making a spread with a gathered skirt, allow 90 inches in length for the center and width enough to cover the bed. Mark off 18 inches at one end and turn in at the foot. Finish the edges with a hem. The skirt should be made at least 26 inches deep and may be pleated or gathered.

You will need from two to two and one-half times the length of the spread for gathering in the skirt. Hem the skirt, then gather.

Match Decoration To Furniture

If you are making a bedsread for a very feminine room, use a gay print material, or perhaps an organdie or chintz. You'll find that a godet flounce spread does nicely, and the effect can be carried out to extend to the pillows, which are made of the same material as the spread with a single row of ruffling around them.

Circular ruffled spreads are attractive, also, but you need a great deal of yardage as the skirt is cut in a flare.

If you have an 18th century room you may be using a rich heavy material for the spread. Quilted satin spreads are attractive. Sometimes it is possible to buy wide satin quilting and this may be used for the top of the spread. Use matching material and make a gathered skirt.

If you have period furniture, use a matching spread of velvet, velveteen or rich brocade. Spread the fabric across the bed and allow for tuck-in at the top. Outline the mattress and the pillows with corded seams and make a gathered skirt long enough at the pillow end so it can follow the curved line and still keep even with the floor.

For tailored rooms, use a plain spread with pleating or scalloped edges. Heavy material like duck or denim is a wise choice in material as the pleats stay in well.

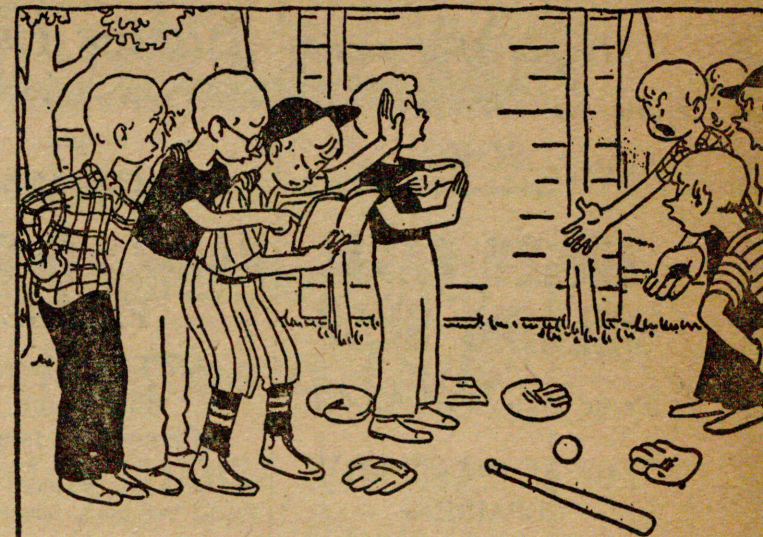

Be Smart!

One of the most novel ideas of the current season is a mesh glove of silver or gold for important evenings. A silver or gold glove needs no polishing, for the color is part of the plastic yarns that are used to give an ever-changing effect.

MILK FEVER UP BY LACK OF COBALT

Research scientists think cobalt deficient soil may be one of the reasons for the increasing occurrence of chronic milk fever in the nation's dairy herds.

This disease, technically known as ketosis or acetonemia, is caused by a decrease in the amount of sugar in the blood—but nobody ever has been able to explain fully just what causes the blood-sugar shortage. The usual symptoms are lack of appetite, depressed appearance, loss of weight, and a sharp decrease in milk production. In some instances, affected animals become wobbly or develop "crazy" symptoms and even go temporarily blind. Affected cows start to show symptoms several days to several weeks after freshening.

Field studies recently reported in veterinary journals showed that a large percentage of cows afflicted with ketosis recovered after being treated with cobalt. This suggested that borderline deficiencies of this mineral may be more common than heretofore suspected. Veterinarians are conducting further investigations to determine the importance of this discovery and to find out to what extent and under what conditions a lack of cobalt may induce chronic milk fever, and how widespread such borderline deficiency may be.

Until the value of cobalt treatment is more clearly established, timetested methods of treatment—involving injections of dextrose into the blood stream and feeding of soluble sugar—will continue to be favored.

DEVOTIONAL READING: John 14:2-6.

Eternal Life

Lesson for March 28, 1948

"THE Lord has risen indeed," and because he lives, we too shall live. Easter is the day that reminds us of this blessed truth—the truth of eternal life. Well has Henry Burton expressed it in these lines:

"There's a light upon the mountains,
And the day is at the spring,
When our eyes shall see the beauty
And the glory of the King;
Weary was our heart with waiting,
And the night watch seemed so long,
But his triumph day is breaking,
And we hail it with a song.

"He is breaking down the barriers;
He is casting up the way;
He is calling for his angels
To build up the gates of day;
But his angels here are human,
Not the shining hosts above;
And the drumbeats of his army
Are the heartbeats of our love."

BREAKFAST BY THE LAKE
READ John 21:1-14 for the exquisite account of Jesus appearing to his disciples in the early morning at the sea of Tiberias. They had been toiling all night, and had taken nothing. Bringing their boats near to the shore, they saw one standing there, "but the disciples knew not that it was Jesus." Jesus told them to cast their net on the right side of the ship, which they did, and they caught 153 "great fishes." Jesus then summoned them to breakfast. He had prepared the bread and fish on coals of fire. And they did eat.

BLESSED ASSURANCE
BEFORE his death, Jesus had said to his disciples, "Because I live, you will live also," John 14:19, but they did not fully grasp the meaning of the great words. But that morning on the sea shore, they understood. They remembered that he had died on the cross, and now they were assured that he was really alive, for this was the third time he had appeared unto the disciples after the resurrection.

How happy they must have been! How happy we should be on this recurring Easter season, assured that he is alive evermore. And because he lives, we too shall live.

WHAT IS ETERNAL LIFE?
SUNDAY'S lesson leads us on to the answer to the question, What is eternal life? In Colossians 3:1-4 and 12-17, we have the declaration, "Your life is hid with Christ in God. . . ." If we have believed on him — cast ourselves in implicit trust into his keeping — we have eternal life, which is his gift to every believing heart.

Paul goes on to admonish those who have "entered into life eternal," through faith in the risen, reigning Saviour, to put on the garments of his presence and power and peace — kindness, humility, meekness, long-suffering, forbearance, forgiveness.

The evidence of eternal life is to be found in the fruits of the Spirit in our daily lives.

CERTAINTY OF ETERNAL LIFE
WE READ in John 17:3 this word of further assurance, "This is eternal life, that they know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ whom thou hast sent." And in I John 5:11-12, we read, "And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life."

In another passage John tells that we know that we have passed from death unto life because we love the brethren.

Easter is the day of eternal hope. It lifts above the fog of earthiness the glory of the blessed hope that fadeth not away. We have God's own testimony that we shall live with him forever, through Jesus Christ, our risen, reigning, returning Lord.

Our Richest Treasure

The Bible walks the ways of all the world with familiar feet and enters land after land to find its own everywhere. Children listen to its stories with wonder and delight, and wise men ponder them as parables of life. The wicked and the proud tremble at its warnings, but to the wounded and the penitent it has a mother's voice. It has woven itself into our dearest dreams; so that love, friendship, sympathy, devotion, memory, hope, put on the beautiful garments of its treasured speech. No man is poor or desolate who has this treasure for his own. —Henry Van Dyke.

GENERAL WAINRIGHT TO SHARE HONORS WITH HERO SERGEANT

Army day in Chicago will be observed Saturday, April 10, with a program scheduled to include a parade on State street, presentations by visiting personalities, and displays of weapons and equipment, in the air and on the ground.

Elements of the armed forces will join with civilian organizations in the route of parade, which will proceed south on State street from Wacker drive to Jackson boulevard, and then east to Grant Park. The parade will start at 2 p. m.

Participants will include nine battalions from the National Guard, drum and bugle corps units from reserve officers training corps programs in Chicago schools, the army band from Fort Sheridan.

Military units including the 728th military police battalion from Fort Sheridan and the 65th military police platoon, Fifth army headquarters, Chicago, will be augmented by representations from veterans organizations. Among the marching units will be the famous Bataan Clan from Maywood. This group is composed of survivors of the Bataan catastrophe of World War II.

Chicago's guest of honor on Army day will be General Jonathan M. Wainwright, the hero of Corregidor, who will take the parade review with other dignitaries in the reviewing stand to be located on the east side of State street at Madison.

Another distinguished visitor to Chicago for the Army day observance will be Alexander A. Drabik, former sergeant with the First army, celebrated in World War II history as the man whose courage helped to shorten the war by several months. Sergeant Drabik was leader of a squad whose action won the bridgehead at Remagen in Germany. As a result American forces were able to encircle 375,000 German troops in the Ruhr for a victory that might otherwise have taken thousands of lives. The former Sergeant lives on a country road near Holland, Ohio.

N. England Dairymen Seek New Price Plan

New England dairymen are urging adoption of a new formula to fix milk prices. It is based on department store sales commodity prices, and the cost of feed and labor on the farm. The old formula, which broke down, was based on the price of butter and powdered milk.—Farm Journal.

Sweet Potatoes Liked by Cattle

Dairy cattle like sweet potatoes, and they show it at the milk pail, declares Farm Journal.

In Louisiana State university tests, freshly chopped sweet potatoes had 21 1-2 times the value (pound for pound) of sorgo or corn and soybean silage. When dehydrated they were only 12 per cent behind ground yellow corn, and 17 per cent better than ground snapped corn. The vines, when used to supplement permanent pasture, boosted milk production 19 per cent.

People complain of "not being used" but still fail to make themselves useful.

Kaiser-Frazer Introduces Four New 1948 Models

- The 1948 KAISER • The 1948 KAISER CUSTOM
- The 1948 FRAZER • The 1948 FRAZER MANHATTAN

AT NO INCREASE IN PRICE!

While Other New Car Prices Are Advancing

HERE'S WHY Kaiser-Frazer can make this announcement while other new car prices spiral upward. Kaiser-Frazer controls its own supply of many basic raw materials... has its own engine plant, foundry and steel mill. Materials from these sources funnel into new and modern Willow Run—the largest automobile manufacturing plant in the world under one roof.

Unfinished steel goes in one end of this great plant and comes out a quality automobile, ready to be driven away. All this is accomplished in a matter of hours, and with the economy of Kaiser-Frazer straight-line production. This is an achievement of men who are injecting new methods and ideas into an old industry.

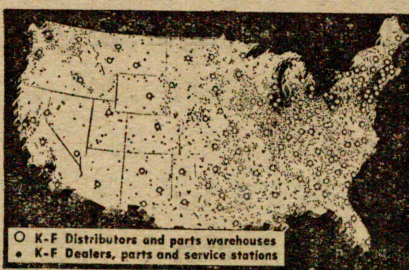

In the new 1948 Kaiser, Frazer, Kaiser Custom, and Frazer Manhattan you get all the features that others have attempted to copy since Kaiser-Frazer design was introduced in 1947.

So far no one has been able to more than approximate the graceful exterior body lines. No one has come near matching the roadability... the ride resulting from seats cradled between the front and rear wheels, such wide seats with both elbow and shoulder room. And none have the style features, the wide choice of colors and fabrics.

You get all this plus the many refinements made possible by years-ahead engineering and design. And, of course, all 1948 Kaiser or Frazer cars have the new Goodyear 24-pound pressure Super-Cushion tires that make bumps something you see but never feel.

Enjoy a ride today in America's newest new cars—the 1948 cars that have not gone up in price!

Wherever you drive, wherever you go, round the corner, down the street, there is a Kaiser-Frazer dealer ready to serve you with genuine factory parts and approved service.

An Open Letter to the Voters of Will County

E. A. KINGSTON, M. D.
CORONER OF WILL COUNTY
LOCKPORT, ILLINOIS

WHY DR. E. A. KINGSTON ENDORSES DR. GREGORY CAREY FOR CORONER.

Because the duties of a Coroner is to take charge of a body in any case of death as the result of an accident or violence.

To investigate and to determine the cause of death in the presence of a Jury sworn in. To place the responsibility if an aforesaid death on the person or persons responsible for such death.

To investigate and to determine the cause of sudden death in cases unattended by physicians or where there is no suspicion of criminality or liability. In such cases a jury is not necessary BUT A DOCTOR and NOT A LAYMAN must determine the cause of death and deliver a certificate to the Department of Vital Statistics. Furthermore it is a matter of economy, in as much as IF the CORONER BE NOT A DOCTOR he must call in one at extra cost to the taxpayer.

Dr. Carey is fully qualified for the office therefore I AM SUPPORTING and RECOMMENDING HIM FOR CORONER, because he is a doctor and can render better service to the people in performing the duties which that office requires according to the statutes of the State of Illinois.
